TRUSTORY

With Bert being an indoor/outdoor cat we know the risks of the unknown happening to him when he is outside. When he came home with an open wound on the base of his tail I knew he needed medical attention right away. We took him into Wheat Ridge Animal Hospital where Dr. Tucher-Mohl diagnosed him with a cat bite abscess. With his not-so-friendly temperament, he had to go under general anesthesia to repair his wound. After all was said and done, the bill grew to over $1,000. Thankfully this accident was 90% covered by Trupanion.

Without Trupanion I would have had to take out credit or make payments with interest; instead, I was able to take care of the 10%!

Bert is now back to himself!
